§1. What is Local Ordained Ministry?

Local Ordained Ministers (LOMs) are Presbyterian ministers of word and sacrament ordained by a Presbytery for ministry in a particular ministry context.

Local Ordained Ministry (LOM) was introduced in 2002 as one of four strands of ordained ministry in the Presbyterian Church of Aotearoa New Zealand. The first Local Ordained Ministers were ordained in 2004. The original understanding of Local Ordained Ministry was that it enabled a local person to meet a local need; typically an elder within a congregation was trained and ordained into their own congregation so that they could step up to fill a ministerial vacancy. Since then the church has widened the scope of LOM appointments, to include people coming into a new district, or being called into chaplaincy or missional appointments. LOM procedures were reviewed in 2016, and the 2016 General Assembly approved changes to the Book of Order. This revised Handbook incorporates these changes.

The distinctive characteristics of the LOM strand of ministry are:

- a) a focus on addressing the ministry needs of a local community
- b) robust and comprehensive training and formation in a flexible partnership training process
- c) recognition of a ministry within a particular context (which could be geographic, cultural or theological).

LOMs are selected, trained and ordained by their Presbytery, in partnership with the relevant PCANZ bodies in particular the National Assessment Work Group and Knox Centre for Ministry and Leadership.

LOMs are required to engage in significant training and personal development.

Within their ministry appointment, LOMs operate fully as ordained Presbyterian ministers, including chairing meetings, administering the sacraments, etc., as appropriate to their context.

LOMs become full members of their Presbytery at ordination, and hold responsibilities in the wider church.

LOMs are not automatically able to receive a call to a different ministry position. Any subsequent appointments require the approval of the Presbytery (normally involving an interview with the Candidates Committee) to assess the suitability of the appointment and any further learning needs.

LOMs may apply for NOM assessment, in consultation with the Presbytery Candidate Convenor.

Churches considering a LOM appointment

In seeking to fill a ministerial vacancy, a LOM appointment could be suitable where:

- there is a person (normally an elder) in the congregation capable of becoming the minister, or there is a suitable lay person willing to come from outside the congregation
- the congregation has the capacity to actively participate in and support the ministry and mission of the church, so is able to function effectively with a minister who may not be as highly trained or experienced as a NOM might be
- a person feels calls to an innovative or specific area of ministry in the life of the church, for which ordination would be significantly beneficial
- there is good support from the Presbytery and the wider church.

Presbytery leadership needs to be involved in these conversations, which would also normally involve the church council, the congregation, and a Ministry Settlement Board or Ministry Committee.

Appointments to other than a local church

General Assembly 2016 approved a broadening of the definition of Local Ordained Ministry to include ministries outside church congregations, such as chaplaincy, Presbytery or missional appointments. Such appointments are made at the discretion of the Presbytery, in consultation with the local parish or ministry setting seeking the LOM appointment. The Presbytery must be confident that the LOM will be well supported through their training and ministry.

Being appointed as a Presbyterian minister

Both Local and National Ordained ministers are called by the church under Terms of Call. Full information about how appointments are made and ended, leave entitlements, allowances, reimbursements, housing and superannuation can be found in the Conditions of Service Manual, section 2: Conditions of Service Manual. LOMs are not eligible to join the Beneficiary Fund. Current stipend rates can be found on the PCANZ webpage in Part 2 of the Church Management Support Guide. 'Standard Terms of Call' do not necessarily apply to non-congregation LOM appointments.

Key people involved

Presbytery Candidates Convenor guides the process from initial contact, through the formal application and interviews, to ordination. Ask your Presbytery Clerk for contact details.

The Presbytery ensures that during the probationary period as a LOM there are the support people necessary for the LOM to grow in their skill, competencies and formation. Along with the Knox Centre for Ministry and Leadership they oversee the training of the LOM.

The Ministry Committee of Presbytery has oversight of all appointments.

National Assessment Work Group is the group charged by the PCANZ with selecting people for ordained ministry. They will be involved in the LOM process, supporting the Presbytery.

Knox Centre for Ministry & Leadership is our training advisor. It is well worth reading the material about ordained ministry on their website:

www.knoxcentre.ac.nz

Staff are happy to be contacted, especially the Dean of Studies who has primary oversight of those training for Local Ordained Ministry:

Co-operative Ventures

Membership in a co-operative Venture with a Presbyterian partnership is considered fully equivalent to membership of a 'straight' Presbyterian church. LOM applicants with little experience of the Presbyterian Church will need to learn more about the PCANZ. Equally, anyone taking up a ministry appointment in a 'CV' will need to learn more about the other partner churches.

§2. The LOM Process

The LOM process is set out in the Book of Order, sections 9.13 - 9.21.

At each discernment point the Presbytery is free to bring the process to an end by saying 'no' to the next step.

The following flowchart, table, and timeline explain/illustrate the same LOM process in different ways.

1. Ministry Settlement Board (MSB), Presbytery or other ministry context oversight body consider LOM

MSB, Presbytery or other ministry oversight body discerns whether LOM is an option

IMPORTANT: see the Book of Order (BOO) 9:14 for the four ways a LOM may be called

2. LOM Candidate

A person may feel a call within a congregation or Presbytery as a LOM and approach the relevant oversight group - see BOO 9:14 (2) & (3)

A person who feels a call to LOM may make informal enquiries to the Presbytery Candidate Convenor or Dean of Studies (Knox Centre for Ministry and Leadership). This might be to explore an initial sense of call, clarify training requirements and processes. In no way should such an approach circumvent the oversight body's processes.

3. Candidate Convenor sends application forms to Dean of Studies (KCML)

Dean of Studies makes recommendation concerning theological foundation study requirements

4. FORMAL ASSESSMENT

Presbytery Candidate Workgroup conduct assessment. Two members of National Assessment Workgroup to be present. (Psychological assessment; and police check to be completed prior to Presbytery assessment)

5. Training Needs Analysis

Conducted and sent to Dean of Studies. Training Agreement drawn up and negotiated. Period of training/formation established (flexibility may be required)

Mentor/Training Enabler and Supervisor appointed by Presbytery

6. Commissioning conducted (with Presbytery involvement)

Takes place in a regular worship service with Presbytery involvement. Candidate becomes LOM Probationer

7. LOM Probationer commences training/formation

Maintains close contact with Mentor/Training Enabler, Candidate Convenor & Dean of Studies

8. Six-monthly reports written by Mentor/Training Enabler and submitted to Candidate Convenor

9. Final Integrative Exercise (FIE)

In final year of training/formation, LOM Probationer begins to write FIE (drafts sent to Dean of Studies)
When FIE considered complete, it is sent to Presbytery for examination

10. Presbytery Trial Service

Conducts worship service and assessed by Presbytery representative

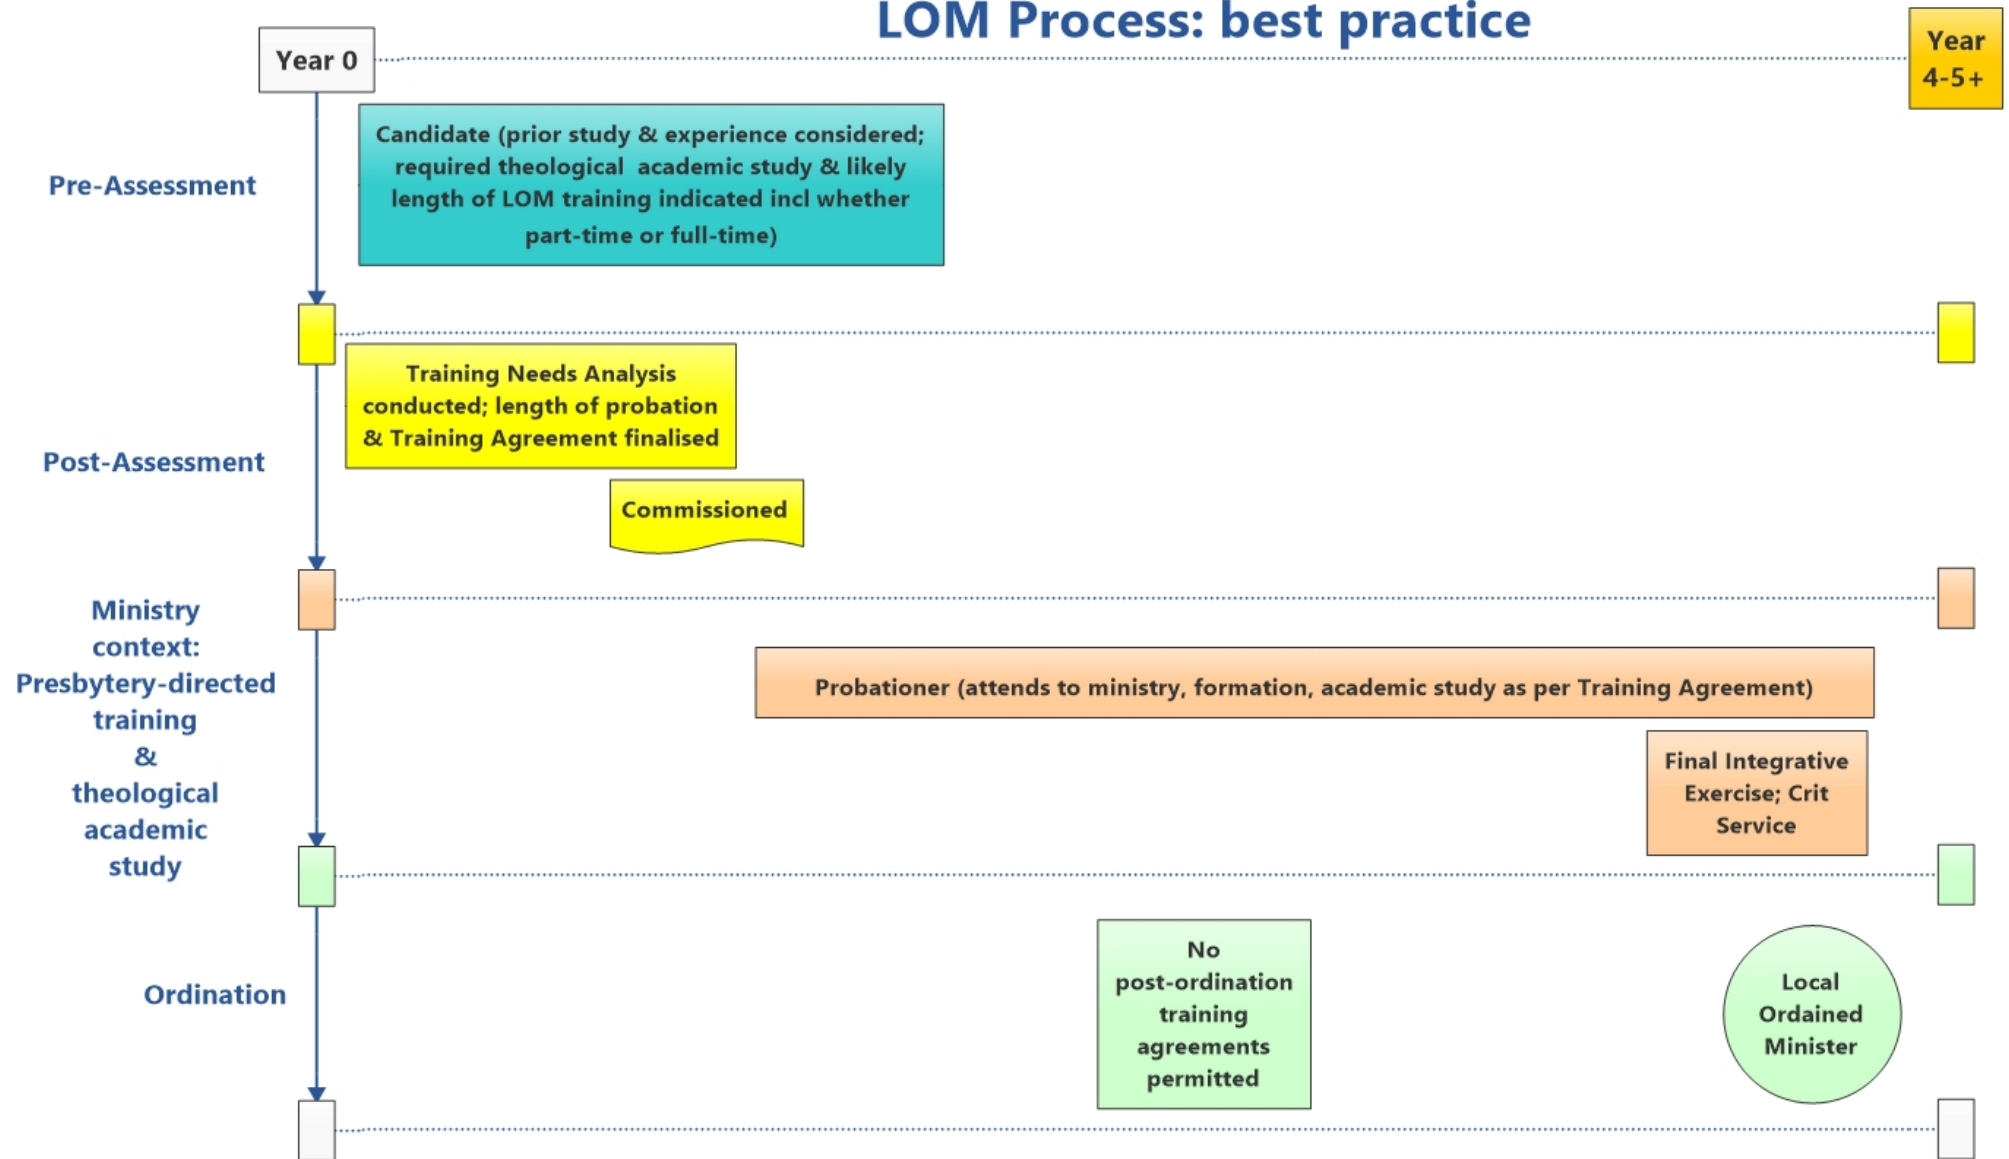

11. Ordination by Presbytery

The LOM Process

	Congregation / other oversight body	Person: LOM applicant	Presbytery: Candidates Convenor	PCANZ
STAGE 1 Initial Steps	Assess local ministry needs as part of review & mission planning. Approve in principle that a LOM appointment could be suitable (normally through MSB).	Discern personal call to ordained ministry, in discussion with parish. Contact CC. Complete application forms & other material. Foundational theology study.	CC meet with LOM applicant for initial dialogue. Guide application so that all paperwork is completed. Consult with Parish (esp MSB convenor) or other setting. Talk to referees. Police check. Copy academic records to KCML. May recommend either LOM or NOM process. If LOM, then arrange for psychologist assessment.	KCML assess Applicant's academic record and advise on theological foundation studies required (from one of the PCANZ approved training providers). NAW in a consulting role.
STAGE 2 Discernment	Discern ministry appointment: Congregation : MSB interview candidate. Other : clarify position and hours per week. §3. Application Process

Anyone can apply for Local Ordained Ministry. There are requirements, such as having been a member of a Presbyterian Church of Aotearoa New Zealand, or a member of a co-operating venture with a Presbyterian partner for 2 years. However a person can at any stage submit an application to their Presbytery, and seek the guidance of the Candidate Convenor as to how to discern a sense of call. It is essential that an applicant's home church supports testing a call to ordained ministry.

The Application Form (Appendix 1) is to be used by people applying for acceptance for training for ordained ministry of the Presbyterian Church of Aotearoa New Zealand. This is to be completed personally and emailed/delivered to the Presbytery Candidates Convenor, together with the required references and various other supporting material.

Presbytery will involve the National Assessment Work Group and the Knox Centre for Ministry and Leadership in considering each applicant. Once application papers have been received, the Candidate Convenor will forward copies to the registrar of the Knox Centre for Ministry and Leadership, and to the National Assessment Work Group.

An application must include:

- a) The Local Ordained Ministry application form (Appendix 1)
- b) A covering letter including any information relevant to your application which does not fit on the form (you might like to refer to Appendix 3, the character and competencies required of a LOM)
- c) A one-page account of your sense of call to ordained ministry in the Presbyterian Church of Aotearoa New Zealand (including why Local Ordained Ministry?)
- d) Your current Curriculum Vitae, including your employment record, educational and training, and experience relevant to pastoral leadership in the church;
- e) Two written references from people who have known you in positions of responsibility in the church and in employment or study;
- f) A letter from your congregation or oversight body supporting your application (including a minuted decision of the church council or board)
- g) Two recent passport-size photographs
- h) Academic Record: copies of full academic transcripts, and photocopies of all tertiary awards and training course certificates. Originals should be sighted by the Presbytery Candidate Convenor who will sign the photocopies.
- i) Police check – please print off and complete and sign the request and Consent form from the PCANZ webpage Police Checks. Ask a PCANZ church or the candidate convenor to verify your ID, and then submit the form and ID to the candidate convenor to send on to the Assembly Office. The process for police checks for trainee ministers can be found at Appendix 2. You will be required to sign the policy document regarding PCANZ's sexual standards and expectations around infant baptism and the ministry of women. If you are unable to sign this in good conscience this will need to be discussed with the Candidates Convenor (Appendix 4).

§4. Discernment Process

The Church's processes of ministry selection aim to discern the call of God on our lives. The various stages, of written application, informal conversation, formal interviews, reports and meetings, all seek the mind of God, in partnership with the Holy Spirit, to further the health and mission of Christ's church. A call to ordained ministry can come in various forms, but it normally includes both a collective/church dimension as well as a personal/heart sense of call. With Local Ordained Ministry, the needs of the local ministry context are given special significance.

The Presbytery is tasked with leading two parallel processes, towards a LOM appointment.

On one hand are the conversations with the calling parish or mission agency. Presbytery needs to ensure that the ministry context is a suitable one for the LOM model of ministry, and that adequate funding and support will be available. In this, the Presbytery will assess the situation in line with the mission planning of the Presbytery and local church or other body within the life of the Church.

For a congregation appointment this process is led by a Ministry Settlement Board. For a non-congregation appointment this process requires the direct involvement of the Presbytery Ministry Committee. Before a LOM position can be established, the Presbytery Council must give approval, on the recommendation of either a MSB or the HR/Ministry Committee.

On the other hand are the conversations with the person involved in order to discern a call to ordination and a rightness of fit with the specific ministry context. These will normally include:

- a) informal conversations between the applicant and the Presbytery Candidate Convenor (and others in Presbytery leadership)
- b) discussion with KCML regarding theological training
- c) a formal interview with the Candidate Committee, together with NAW representatives (see below)

During the discernment process, allow as much time as needed for initial conversations and exploring options (such as whether the applicant may be recommended for National Ordained Ministry). During this period the applicant is encouraged to learn more about ministry, attend Presbytery events, and expand their knowledge of the church.

Requirements

The requirements which must be met prior to a formal interview:

- at least 2 years' membership and active involvement in the Presbyterian Church of Aotearoa/New Zealand or a co-operative venture with a Presbyterian partner
- affirmation of the applicant by their home church
- receipt of all application material, including academic records
- a psychological assessment, to be arranged and paid for by the Presbytery

Please also note the Character and Competencies for LOMs in Appendix 3.

Assessment Interview

Once the Candidate Convenor is confident that these have been met, he/she will set up a formal interview. Present at this should be:

- the LOM Candidate
- his/her spouse or other support person
- the Candidate Convenor and others representing the Presbytery (i.e. the Candidates Committee)
- two representatives of the National Assessment Work Group
- the candidate's minister, and/or the interim moderator or chaplaincy representative as appropriate.

The interview will cover a range of topics, such as prior experience, family situation, sense of call, theological understands. It might also include a brief trial sermon or impromptu speech (best to arrange beforehand!). The interview should focus particularly on the LOM context and the skills required for that. Please discuss the PCANZ policies requiring agreement (Appendix 4).

Outcomes

After the interview the panel will meet 'in committee' to reach a decision, which is then reported to the candidate. The decision could be:

- a) 'Yes'. If the decision is strongly affirmative, this will be reported immediately to Presbytery Council for confirmation - that the candidate be approved for a Local Ordained Ministry appointment on a probationary basis.
- b) 'No'. If the decision is a clear 'no', the candidate is informed that the Presbytery does not discern a call to ordained ministry at this time. If this is the decision, then it is kept confidential. This does not preclude another application being made in the future.
- c) 'Not yet'. The Candidate Committee may decide that an application 'lie on the table' while the candidate continues their ministry and training journey. If so, a mentor must be appointed to support the candidate, and clarity given as to what is required before returning for a follow-up interview.
- d) The recommendation may be to send the candidate for assessment for National Ordained Ministry.

People affected by decisions of a Presbytery have a right of appeal within 10 working days of the decision being notified, under the PCANZ's appeals procedures.

Records

Once a decision has been made, either to proceed towards appointment and training, or a person steps out of the discernment process, care is taken with all paperwork.

After ordination, one copy of the application material and reports must be sent to the PCANZ office in a sealed labelled envelope for the minister's file.

All other copies of personal papers should be destroyed.

The Candidate Convenor may keep a copy of all material (but only until the whole process is complete).

Members of the Candidate Committee or interview panel must destroy hard copies of application papers, and delete digital copies, including emails.

Once submitted, application papers are not returned to the applicant.

Please read the Privacy Statement (Appendix 10) and the Code of Ethics (Appendix 11).

Police Checks

The flow chart for police checks can be found at Appendix 2.

The Police Vetting Request and Consent Form cannot be processed unless every detail is correct.

The applicant has to:

- 1: Print out the NZ Police Vetting Request and Consent Form on the PCANZ website: Police Checks
- 2: The applicant fills in Section 2 and signs it
- 3: A An officer of a PCANZ church or the candidate convenor needs to complete and sign Section 1, and has to see the applicant's passport or birth Certificate, and must sight a copy of the drivers licence (having seen the original)
- 4: Candidate convenor emails Section 1 and Section 2, plus the copy of the driving licence, to the Assembly Office (kate@presbyterian.org.nz).

Please note this is urgent; once signed, the form has to be received by the PCANZ office within three months of date of consent by the applicant Otherwise it will be returned to signed again.

An email will be sent to the Candidate Convenor with the vetting report (allow up to six weeks).

Psychological assessments

Contact the National Assessment Work Group to arrange. The assessment may happen in person or online.

It involves an online questionnaire. Please arrange for the invoice to be sent to the Presbytery treasurer.

This is a significant cost to the Presbytery, so ensure that there is plenty of time between the assessment and the interview, to allow for the report to be read by the interview panel and reflected on before the interview.

§5. LOM Probation Appointment

On the recommendation of either a Ministry Settlement Board (with congregational approval) or the Ministry Committee of Presbytery, AND the recommendation of the Candidate Committee, the Presbytery may establish a LOM position and appoint the candidate as a LOM probationer.

Important

As training and study constitutes being a LOM probationer, the local parish or ministry setting must be aware that time must be allocated for study and training requirements, while receiving the stipend paid by the local parish or ministry setting.

There is no set time limit for a period of probation, but it is expected that the Training Agreement (which includes foundation theological study) be completed within four to five years or be reviewed.

At the beginning of the LOM probation the Presbytery will hold a commissioning (similar to that for NOM Interns). The commissioning happens during a regular worship service with Presbytery representation.

For parish appointments, the interim moderator continues during the period of LOM probation.

(Please note Appendix 12: suggested Decisions of Presbytery in the LOM process)

§6. Training Process

LOM training is a partnership between KCML and the Presbytery. One of the KCML staff acts as the LOM training advisor, who is the main point of contact. Presbytery must appoint a training enabler for each LOM probationer to mentor, support and resource the LOM in their training.

6.1 Training and Study Agreement

A Training and Study Agreement (Appendix 6) will be drawn up, to cover:

- any academic courses of study required
- alternative processes for covering topics, such as directed reading, block courses
- practical aspects of ordained ministry to be addressed by the Presbytery, including celebrating sacraments, PCANZ policies and doctrines, facilitating meetings, cultural awareness, reflection on worship, preaching and missional leadership, based on Training Needs Analysis (Appendix 5)
- attendance at a PCANZ risk management course (required of all ministers)
- feedback on worship leading (typically through a 'crit service'; a form is provided in Appendix 9)
- a significant essay, called an 'Final Integrative Exercise' (FIE) in which the LOM Probationer expresses theological, biblical and personal convictions about their ministry.

The Training Agreement will specify what is required to be completed before ordination.

6.2 Academic Study

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Aotearoa NZ (PCANZ) determines the policies, procedures, profiles of ministry, training needs and standards which govern the training programmes for ordained ministry.¹

IMPORTANT: Foundation theological study is a crucial part of the process. In addition to study at one of the approved training providers, there can be the need to complete supplementary study facilitated by the Knox Centre for Ministry and Leadership. This is usually by means of a reading paper on relevant topics. An important decision will be whether the LOM Probationer studies part-time or full-time.

Local Ordained Ministers (LOMs) are Presbyterian ministers of Word and Sacrament ordained by a Presbytery for ministry in a particular ministry context.

LOM was introduced in 2002 as one of four strands of ordained ministry in the Presbyterian Church of Aotearoa New Zealand.

The distinctive characteristics of the LOM strand of ministry are:

- d) a focus on addressing the ministry needs of a local community
- e) robust and comprehensive training in a flexible partnership training process
- f) recognition of a ministry within a particular context (which could be geographic, cultural or theological).

Part of the “robust and comprehensive training” will involve theological study at an approved theological training provider.

Book Allowance

The McMullin Trust – Ordained Ministry Trainee Book Purchase Fund provide a theological/ministry book allowance of $350 per year. This is paid upon production of receipts. Please claim this from KCML once you have reached $350 of expenditure. Please email the KCML registrar (registrar@knoxcentre.ac.nz)

LOM Ministry Formation

In preparing to be a LOM you will be responsible to ensure the right people are in conversation with you and study is progressing as agreed. You need to be talking with key people as soon as you can and to remain in close contact with them. They will help guide you through the process and ensure you are making wise choices with your study programme.

1. Your Presbytery Candidate Convenor. They will advise and guide you through the comprehensive application process, which will include a training needs analysis with a suitable person within your Presbytery to establish what formal and informal training is required overall. A training agreement will be written to capture this as and once conversations have also been completed with first the Dean of Studies of Knox Centre for Ministry and Leadership and then the chosen training provider.
2. Dean of Studies, at the Knox Centre for Ministry and Leadership. The Dean will consider your overall experience and previous study and determine which theological studies you will need to complete. In deciding that, we need to respect the training provider may have subjects they require to be included a particular course of study.
3. A training provider recognised by the PCANZ. While the required formal study programme may not be a fully-fledged degree programme, you are expected to study subjects in significant depth.

Please note: all training providers provide distance options for study

- ◆ Carey Baptist College (Auckland)
- ◆ Laidlaw College (Henderson, Manukau, Christchurch)
- ◆ Otago University (Dunedin)
- ◆ Pacific Theological College (Suva)

The coverage of subjects expected to be engaged with include:

Biblical Studies

You will need to learn how to read the Bible so that you can speak into and engage with the life of the world.

Your study will show evidence of:

- Deep and focused engagement with the Scriptures as ancient texts
- Interpretation of the Scriptures as a contemporary voice
- Working knowledge of the diversity and unity of the Old and New Testaments
- Appreciation of the place of the Gospels

Christian Thought and Church History

You will need to have a working and active knowledge of how the Christian Church has formed her identity, thinking and action through the ages.

Your study will show evidence of:

- Exposure to and practice of introductory theological methods
- Study of the historical story of the church; including as it pertains to New Zealand
- Engagement with the person and work of Christ (Christology)
- Engagement with the nature and mission of the church (Ecclesiology)
- Engagement with theological ethics

Ministry in Church and Society

You will be studying in response to the call of God on your life; which means you are studying for the benefit of others that you will minister to. A crucial element of that is the practice of being able to study, reflect and practice what you are learning. There are a range of subjects that will develop your skills and gifts in this way.

Your study will show evidence of:

- Study and engagement in ministry subjects

Each training provider offer a suite of subjects whose range includes Mission, Pastoral and Contextual Studies, Spiritual Formation, Christian Education, Leadership and Youth Ministry.

Te Ao Māori

The PCANZ takes seriously her commitment to Te Tiriti o Waitangi and our ministry partner, Te Aka Puaho, and seeks to deepen our responsibility to living and ministering accordingly.

Your study will ideally include:

- One course on Māori language and/or culture at the beginning of your formal study

6.3 Ministry Formation

Formational training: Before a candidate can be approved by Presbytery as a LOM probationer, a programme of formational training must be agreed on. The focus of such training is on the skills required for the particular ministry context of the LOM. Appendix 5 is a Training Needs Assessment. Agreed priorities should be recorded in the Training and Study Agreement (Appendix 6).

It is the shared task of the LOM candidate, the appointing body, the Presbytery candidate convenor and KCML to identify the training needs of each LOM. This will demand an understanding of the skills and knowledge required for the particular context for the local ordained ministry, and an honest examination of the prior learning, training and skills of the candidate. The LOM candidate should identify their own learning goals, as well as individual preferences of training processes and style.

A range of options are available to presbyteries in providing ministry formation, including:

- directed reading: books read and discussed with a mentor
- written assignments
- seminars and workshops (including those offered by neighbouring Presbyteries)
- short-term supervised ministry placements, e.g. to experience a chaplaincy or different parish or cultural context
- specialist intensives (e.g. with Kids Friendly)
- retreat or a period of Spiritual Direction

Presbyteries must appoint a Training Enabler to mentor the LOM probationer through their ministry formation. This person needs to have a good understanding of the ministry context. The LOM probationer and his/her training enabler need to meet regularly to report on training. Together with the candidate convenor and KCML teaching staff, clear goals need to be set and progress recorded.

The training enabler is asked to provide a written report to the candidate convenor every 6 months on progress.

The purpose of the LOM Probationary period is formation in the context of responsible ministry. Critical in this is the role of the Training Enabler in giving shape to the ministry the LOM Probationer will exercise, providing sound advice when needed on how that ministry might be exercised and helping the Intern learn from the experiences.

Good mentoring requires the investment of time. Training Enablers must not regard LOM Probationers as just another task to accomplish but rather commit themselves to build formatively into the life of the Probationer. Mentoring approached in such a way will add to the workload of Training Enablers. They will need to commit themselves to the giving of their time and building relationships. The effectiveness of Training Enablers will depend largely on the nature of the relationship built between Probationer and the Training Enabler.

The characteristics looked for in a Training Enabler include:

1. An openness to learn as well as mentor
2. The ability to analyse and reflect on ministry practices and experiences
3. Time management, energy and communication skills
4. Enough personal security to not feel threatened by giving ministry to others
5. A desire to foster the unique gifts and abilities of others rather than a need to create clones
6. A willingness to provide support and advocacy for the Probationer while they grow in their understanding of, and competency in, ministry
7. A grounding in the PCANZ's ethos and polity including the Code of Ethics
8. Support of changes needed for mission while sympathetic to maintenance needs of church today

The relationship between the Training Enabler and the Probationer must be one of trust. Permission to share anything out of the relationship must be given by the other party. While the Training Enabler keeps in mind the role expectations and learning requirements of the Probationer, they also monitor their workload, attitudes and time management.

The Training Enabler's responsibilities include:

1. To oversee the ministry of the Probationer by being present and available to the Probationer, with the exception of normal holidays and other leave;
2. To meet at least weekly with the Probationer. These meetings must be more than times for task assignment and scheduling. They need to be times also for analysis of the Probationer's experience and discussion of the various dimensions of ministry in which the Training Enabler shares from their own ministry experience;
3. To help the Probationer in the development of a role description and learning goals that meet the needs for the Probationer's ministry formation as well as serve the needs of the congregation;
4. The LOM Probationer is to attend a Presbytery ethics and risk management workshop, with their Training Enabler. The Training Enabler is to engage with the Probationer in a process of reflection post-workshop.

It is recommended that a Ministry Reflection Group be established, who can speak from and into the context that the LOM is ministering, and give feedback and support. This group would be formed from people within the ministry context of the LOM Probationer, with mentoring from Presbytery (Appendix 7), and report to the candidate convenor every 6 months.

A LOM probationer is also required to have a professional external supervisor (paid for by the local parish or ministry setting). It would be helpful for the supervisor to be aware of ministry formation and training goals. See Supervision Guidelines.

6.4 Final Integrative Exercise

LOM probationers are required to complete a Final Integrative Exercise (FIE), an opportunity to reflect at some length on the integration of ministry practice, identity, spirituality and theology in their ministry formation. The focus is on personal theological reflection and the integration of learning, ministry, faith and calling. The LOM probationer is encouraged to write in an autobiographical fashion and begin working on this as soon as possible (about a year before the time s/he expects to be ordained). You will need to discuss initial ideas and several drafts with the LOM training advisor at KCML and your mentoring minister before bringing it to completion. The LOM training advisor at KCML will advise when it is considered ready for final submission. It is submitted to the Presbytery whose approval is needed. The central topic needs to be relevant to the LOM's own sense of ministry formation. The final version is around 5,000 words. A full description of what is required for the FIE can be found as Appendix 8.

This is a major part of the LOM training process, and both the candidate convenor and the LOM's mentor/training enabler need to be actively encouraging progress on the FIE. Once KCML approves it for submission to the Presbytery, two people are asked to formally assess it on behalf of the Presbytery, and write to the candidate convenor recommending that the FIE be either accepted or not accepted. The candidate convenor or the training enabler should both read the FIE, but should not be the assessors.

Once the FIE is approved, the final 'sign-off' from KCML is received, and the Crit Service done, the candidate convenor shall write a final report to the Presbytery Council recommending that the LOM probationer be ordained and inducted.

§7. Ordination

When the probationer has completed the requirements of the training agreement, the Presbytery, in consultation with KCML, shall satisfy itself that all requirements for ordination have been met. If the Presbytery is not satisfied that all requirements for ordination have been met, the probation must be either extended or terminated.

If the Presbytery approves the probationer for ordination:

- a) Terms of Call must be confirmed. This may be a continuation of arrangements during the LOM Probation but needs to be reviewed and formally approved as a call.
- b) the congregation must vote on the call (or other process as relevant to another ministry setting)
- c) the probationer must accept a call from the Presbytery.

The Presbytery must conduct a service of ordination, which includes:

- (a) the signing of the Formula, and
- (b) the preaching of the word, and
- (c) a prayer of ordination, and
- (d) the laying on of hands, joined in by all ministers who are present, and
- (e) a declaration of ordination.

Then the Presbytery also inducts the probationer into the position to which he or she has been called.

If the appointment is to a partnership context, such as a cooperative venture, the other partner denominations will be involved.

At ordination, the LOM becomes a full member of the Presbytery, and will be expected to participate fully in the life of the wider church. LOMs have access to other church provisions for ministers, including holidays at Glen Innis, study leave, etc.

If the church council or Presbytery does not approve the call, or if the LOM Probationer does not satisfy the requirements for ordination, a ministry settlement board shall be reconstituted.

§8. Transfer of a Local Ordained Minister to another Local Ordained Ministry

Local Ordained Ministers are not automatically eligible to receive a call to a ministry position other than the one that they are trained and ordained into (Book of Order 9.13). If a LOM feels called to a new ministry, or if their previous ministry comes to an end for some reason, and another Ministry Settlement Board (or other appointing body) wishes to invite a LOM into a conversation about a new appointment, the process outlined in the Book of Order 9:21 must be followed.

§9. Ministry Development

a) All Presbyterian ministers, both locally and nationally ordained, are required to complete a Minister's Development Plan (MDP) every three years. See the PCANZ webpage For Ministers – Minister's Development Plan This process was previously called the Minister's Development Review (MDR).

The Minister's Development Plan has moved the focus from reviewing a ministry, to supporting a minister's personal and professional development. It is a facilitated reflection process over 10 to 15 weeks which will be guided by a trained and accredited facilitator. This is one of the ways that a Presbytery expresses its care and support for its ministers. The process is administered by KCML and the Administrator, Rev Steve Jourdain, can be contacted at mdp@knoxcentre.ac.nz

b) All Presbyterian ministers, both locally and nationally ordained, also require a Certificate of Good Standing – see PCANZ webpage For Ministers – Certificate of Good Standing

Section 2.1 Certificate of Good Standing: Provisions for current ministers

2.1.1 As a member of their Presbytery, each national and local ordained minister serving in a congregation or chaplaincy must hold a Certificate of Good Standing.

2.1.2 General criteria

To be in good standing a minister must:

- receive regular and adequate supervision according to the Supervision Guidelines
- not be the subject of disciplinary procedures
- have received a clearance from NZ Police at the beginning of each new appointment
- have completed a PCANZ-approved ministry ethics and risk management course.

c) Professional external supervision is required for all Ministers, including LOM Probationers, to be paid for by the local parish or ministry setting.

d) It is important to be familiar with our Code of Ethics (Appendix 11) and to understand our disciplinary processes, set out in Chapter 15 of the Book of Order.

e) Ministers are expected to engage in life-long learning, taking up opportunities for spiritual practices, regular training, study leave and networking with ministry colleagues.

f) Ministers are also expected to participate in the life of the Presbytery by attending planned gatherings, ordinations and inductions, and participating in Presbytery committees and tasks like Interim Moderator and on Ministry Settlement Boards.

Appendix 2: Police Vetting

The Candidate Convenor (CC) receives completed application form from the applicant. This includes a Police Vetting form (PVF) and ID verification from the supporting parish minister, session clerk/parish council clerk, or interim moderator.

The CC checks that the Police Vetting Form has been filled in accurately and contains all required information. This must have been signed by the applicant within the last two months.

The CC then emails a colour scan of the PVF, together with copy of ID, to the Administrator (Executive Support, Compliance and HR) at the PCANZ Assembly Office, who will submit it to NZ Police.

The Administrator will receive the result of the vetting process and inform the CC and KCML (via email).
The Administrator will also retain this initial police vetting result on file.

If more than three years lapse between the initial application police check and start date, then another police check must be requested from the Assembly Office.

Otherwise, when a LOM Probationer starts training, presbytery will send details to Administrator at Assembly Office, who will then ensure that police checks are done every three years after the initial application check. For NOM Interns, KCML will ensure that police checks are done every three years. Thereafter, for ordained ministers, police checks are part of the Good Standing process.

Appendix 4: PCANZ Policies requiring agreement

Candidate's ability and willingness to work within the decisions of the General Assembly

As the National Assessment Workgroup, we are obliged to ascertain the willingness of each candidate to work within the provisions of the Book of Order, its supplementary provisions and the decisions of the General Assembly. This is what is meant by the phrase in the formula signed by Elders and Ministers at ordination which reads 'I acknowledge the Presbyterian government of this Church to be agreeable to the Word of God and promise to submit to it.' (Book of Order Reg 1.7). We strongly recommend that you become familiar with chapters 1-3 of the Book of Order found on the PCANZ website.

<http://www.presbyterian.org.nz/for-parishes/book-of-order>

The church requires that its ministers: make provision for the baptism of infants (Reg 4.4 [b]), are willing to participate in the ordination of women to Eldership and Ordained Ministry (Reg 6.5 d, e, f), and refrain from sexual relationships outside the marriage of a man and a woman. (Reg 9.1 [1a]) Please discuss these with your Presbytery candidates' convenor, moderator or mentor in order to sign the declaration below with informed integrity. They are explained more fully below.

Baptism of infants

If your calling to ordained ministry is confirmed, you will be required to make provision for infant baptism in any subsequent parish positions. If you are unable or unwilling to baptise infants yourself, you are required to:

- a) make this known during the call or appointment process and before any induction and
- b) undertake not to preach against infant baptism and
- c) make provision for infant baptism to occur within the parish of which you have charge

The ordination of women

The Presbyterian Church of Aotearoa New Zealand ordains women to Eldership and to the Ministry of Word and Sacrament. If your calling to ordained ministry is confirmed, you will be required to support and participate in the ordination of women within the church.

Sexual Relationships

Those who are being trained for or are within the ordained ministry of the Presbyterian Church may not be involved in any sexual relationship other than that of a faithful marriage between a man and a woman.

Appendix 5: Training Needs Analysis

LOMs are expected to gain experience and understanding over a wide range of ministry skills and knowledge. Each LOM candidate will bring a unique mix of experience, and the training process will extend this and address any gaps.

The following is provided as a guide for self-reflection and for conversation, particularly with the Presbytery Candidate Convenor, and the Training Enabler/Mentor appointed by the Presbytery. The intention of the Training Needs Analysis is to identify areas for training, formation and development.

Please note: there may be areas a LOM candidate has a lot of experience in (e.g. worship leading, funerals, pastoral care), however they might not have engaged in intentional action-reflection in these ministry tasks. Hence, the training needs analysis might identify the need to deepen those experiences (past and present) with intentional reflection to grow and deepen their skills and ministry.

Ministry training might include mentoring, visiting other churches and outreach ministries, seminars and workshops, reading of books & online resources, reflection on ministry practice, retreats, supervision, spiritual direction, Presbytery events, etc.

Important

All this Appendix must be used when commencing the LOM Probationary arrangement. This Appendix provides all the documentation which all parties retain a copy and sign.

LOM Probationers are not paid remuneration, but are paid a stipend to support their living expenses and enable them to undertake their training. The stipend is set at 91% of the basic stipend, with no seniority allowance. As LOM Probationers are not employees, they are not entitled to employer Kiwisaver contributions. Accommodation arrangements for a LOM Probationer need to be discussed and agreed to by all parties – including the presbytery. Guidance for LOM Training and Study Agreement

LOM Probationer Engagement

Locally Ordained Minister Probationers and their Roles

1. Locally Ordained Minister Probationers (LOM Probationers) carry out many roles within their local parish or ministry setting, as they are called to service.
2. In order to understand their role and how it relates to the Presbyterian Church of Aotearoa New Zealand (PCANZ), tasks that LOM Probationers do can be broken down into three categories:
 - a. Tasks Critical to their LOM Probationer training.
 - b. Task that are necessary to undertake to contribute to the running of their Parish or ministry context.
 - c. Tasks that are voluntary.
3. There must be a clear distinction between these categories so that the different aspects of a LOM probationers training is clear.
4. LOM Probationer are not paid remuneration, but are paid a stipend to support their living expenses and enable them to undertake their training.
5. A LOM Probationer is not an employee for the purposes of s6(1) of the Employment Relations Act 2000.

Purpose of this Guidance

6. This guidance is intended to allow relevant stakeholders to correctly manage LOM in a way that is both legally compliant and fit for purpose.
7. It is important to note that the relationship of training is between the LOM Probationer and God, as the call to train is a call from God made to the candidate. The relationship between Stakeholders and LOM Probationers is one of guidance and not employment.
8. This package is intended to:
 - a. Set guidance for Stakeholders to correctly manage LOM Probationers.
 - b. Define the relationship between LOM Probationers and relevant Stakeholders.

Key Parties

9. PCANZ stakeholders include:

- a. Presbytery Candidates Convenor guides the process from initial contact, through the formal application and interviews, to ordination
- b. Knox Centre for Ministry & Leadership is the training advisor.

- d. Local Parish (or other local ministry setting) The Parish or Ministry Setting: this is the context in which the probationer is trained and formed, and eventually ordained and inducted into. The Parish or Ministry Setting is responsible for the financial cost of supporting the LOM probationer's training.
- e. National Assessment Work Group is the group charged by the PCANZ with selecting people for ordained ministry. They will be involved in the LOM assessment, supporting the Presbytery.
- f. LOM Probationers are those undertaking or intending to undertake training to become a Locally Ordained Minister.

Agreement

- 10. A template study agreement is available and is intended to be used to document the relationship between the Stakeholders and the LOM Probationers.

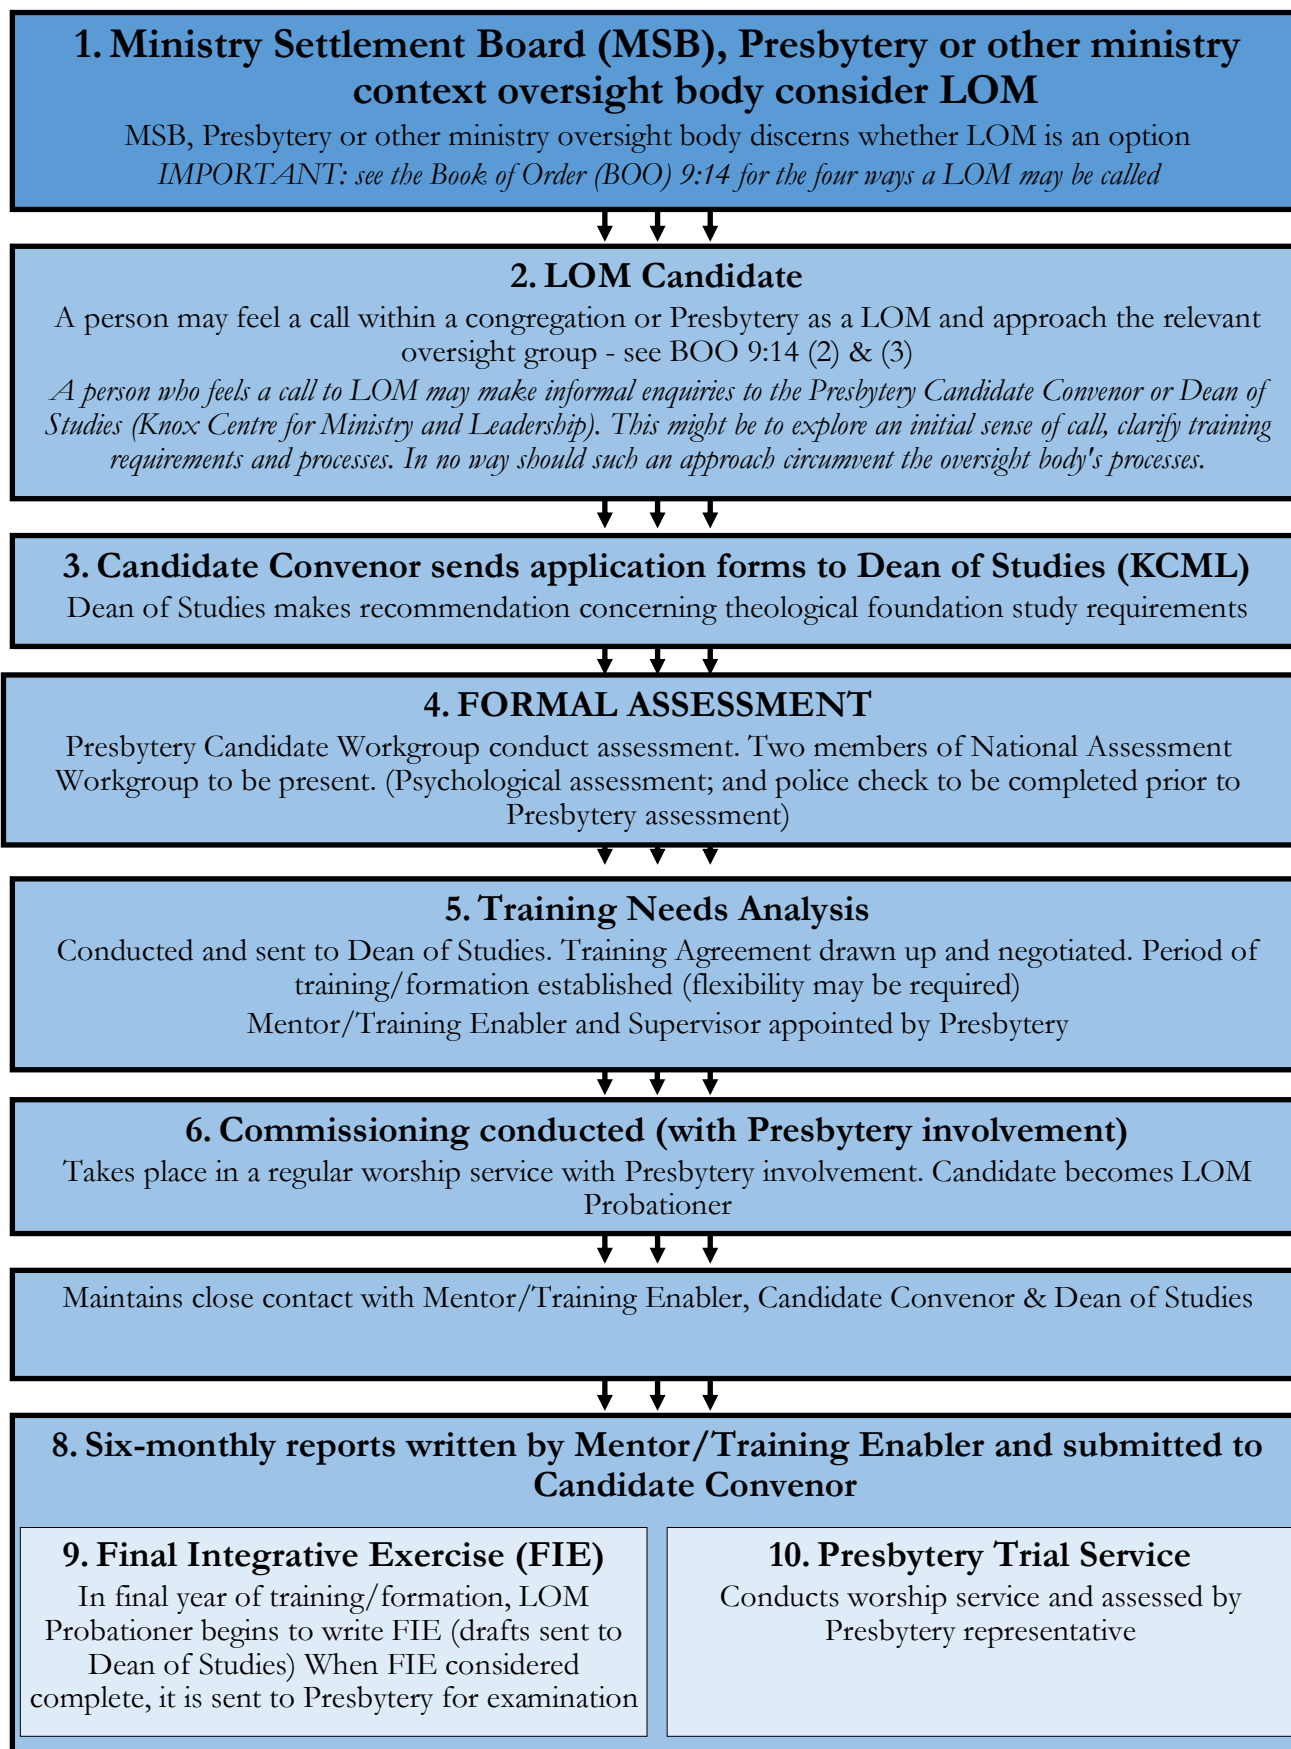

LOM Probationer Process

- 11. An end-to-end process map from the LOM Handbook can be found attached to this guidance as Annex One.

Failure Process

- 12. In the circumstance where either party does not wish to continue the LOM Probationer Process, the below process is to be followed:
 - a. If the LOM Probationer wishes to terminate the process, they are able to do so by providing the Presbytery with two weeks written notice.
 - b. If the Presbytery wishes to terminate the process, they are able to do so by following a path of natural justice. Ultimately the Presbytery is the decision maker in this process.
- 13. Guidance for this process can be found in the LOM Handbook.

Appendix 7: Ministry Reflection Group

Introduction

The Ministry Reflection Group (MRG) is a representative group of people associated with the LOM ministry setting who are committed to the ministry and mission of the church. They are available to assist the LOM probationer grow personally, intellectually, professionally and spiritually.

Thank you for being willing to be part of the MRG. As a member of the MRG, your job is like being an interpreter, about the life of the congregation/context to the LOM probationer. You can tell the LOM probationer about life as you experience it, and the challenges you face. You can tell the LOM probationer how well s/he is equipping you for your ministry. With loving concern you can tell the LOM probationer about her/his rough edges or weaknesses. We don't always perceive ourselves as others do; someone who honestly reflects our behaviour can be invaluable in our formation.

Appointment

The MRG is appointed by the church council (or equivalent) in consultation with the LOM probationer's mentoring minister. It is recommended that three to five people serve on the group. One person will act as the Convenor of the group.

The group should be representative of the congregation and community in which the ministry occurs, and ideally there should be a balance of age, gender and ethnic background. The key is having persons who have gifts and insights that together will help the LOM probationer grow in the dimensions listed above.

Roles and Responsibilities

The MRG's primary role is to support, accompany and encourage the LOM probationer in this learning opportunity by:

- sharing their perceptions and knowledge of the congregation and the local community
- providing support and encouragement during the LOM training
- reflecting with the LOM probationer on the practice of ministry experience and the learning opportunities that take place during the LOM training
- offering honest feedback to the LOM probationer and helping the LOM probationer integrate the learning they are experiencing
- helping the LOM probationer gain skills for ministry leadership, deepen awareness of pastoral identity, enhance her/his spirituality and gain in personal awareness
- develop a fuller understanding of the nature of the call to Christian ministry and leadership

Some key skills for the MRG

- a vision for ministry as a shared endeavour between the laity and the minister
- friendship
- listening
- confidentiality
- a willingness to share your faith journey
- a knowledge of different aspects of the congregation
- the ability to observe behaviour and offer constructive feedback

The MRG should meet monthly with the LOM probationer during their time as a probationer. The MRG does not provide disciplinary oversight of the LOM probationer. The MRG reports every 6 months to the Presbytery candidate convenor.

Appendix 8: Final Integrative Exercise

LOM probationers are required to complete a Final Integrative Exercise (FIE), an opportunity to reflect at some length on the integration of ministry practice, identity, spirituality and theology in their ministry formation. The focus is on personal theological reflection and the integration of learning, ministry, faith and calling. The final version is around 5,000 words. However, if required you can exceed that limit with the agreement of the Dean of Studies, KCML.

It is a chance for you to reflect on what have been significant learnings and outcomes for you during this time and should draw on all aspects of your formation. You should give attention to matters such as spiritual and personal growth, your operational theology, your leadership gifts and strengths, your sense of vocation and the way these are being affected by your experiences within the programme. Attention should also be given to the qualities and professional competencies which you carry into ministry.

This is not primarily an academic exercise although it is expected that it will exhibit robust biblical and theological thinking which illustrate or substantiate your own faith and practice perspectives. When citing publications, you will need to reference them as you would for an essay.

The completed exercise will be assessed on the following criteria:

- Awareness of your own person and practice as these relate to ministry and leadership
- Evidence from your work that illustrates your learning.
- Integration of theological thinking, practical ministry understanding, personal and spiritual growth.
- Identifying the strengths/gifts and weaknesses/limitations you bring to ministry.
- Written in an understandable form following the conventions of good writing and presentation.

Organising your Final Integrative Exercise

Start with an Introduction. It is important in the introduction that you describe your ministry context in detail. The examiners of your FIE will more than likely not be familiar with your context. Then, reflect on the following three questions. It is important to provide specific examples.

1. What ministry identity/self-understanding do you have?

- How would you articulate your ministry identity/self-understanding? What kind of minister do you imagine yourself to be now? What will be your emphases/passions and strengths?
- What does becoming an ordained minister in the PCANZ mean to you now? How has this changed/developed?
- What experiences (positive and negative) during your LOM probation have impacted on this?
- What biblical and theological insights have helped to shape this?
- What personal/spiritual growth has directed this?

2. What ability do you have to manage yourself and exercise the role of minister/leader?

- How well have you formed effective pastoral relationships (established trust, clear communication, etc.)?
- How well have you managed personal and role boundaries? Are you learning to exercise good choices?
- Does your leadership influence, guide, teach, and enable others?
- How well do you reflect on your practice (experience, action, theology and feelings)?
- Can you work constructively with conflict?
- What spiritual disciplines have you put in place/strengthened?
- How would you assess your competency in the following areas? Where do you think your strengths/growth areas lay?
 - a) Leading worship and theological attentiveness (covering the key experience areas of preaching and worship leading)
 - b) Cultivating communal and pastoral formation (covering the key experience areas of pastoral care, Christian education and ministry management)

- c) Enabling mission practice (covering the key experience areas of ministry management and mission engagements)

Support your response to any of the above with evidence and examples wherever possible.

3. What do you identify as areas for development?

- What was not addressed in the LOM training for you?
- What new options and interests have been opened up by your learning?
- What faith discoveries have you made?
- What specific growth areas do you intend to work on?

Finish with a Conclusion that picks up the key themes and answers the following question: 'In what way has your call to pastoral ministry been shaped/confirmed?'

A small group of people could be included in giving feedback, as well as the appointed examiner. The privacy commitment of Presbytery and National Assessment Workgroup members assessing applicants for Local Ordained Ministry....

The psychological report will be collected at the time of application for the LOM Assessment process, for the purposes of helping ascertain your physical and psychological suitability for ministry training.

We collect your personal information in order to:

Appendix 12: Decisions of Presbytery as part of the LOM process

To aid presbyteries in working through the process, these are suggested formal decisions required at the various steps along the way.

1. If a candidate committee assesses a person as being suitable for LOM ministry, this would be reported to the Presbytery council, but no decision of the Presbytery is required.

2. If a ministry settlement board wishes to move towards a LOM appointment, this must be approved by a congregational meeting, and the Presbytery council may affirm

That ... church is a suitable context for local ordained ministry.

The MSB must also bring to the Presbytery council recommended terms of appointment, for approval. (Please note, these may be equivalent to Standard Terms of Call but this is not a call as such.)

3. If a ministry context other than a congregation wishes to move towards a LOM appointment, the ministry committee of the Presbytery will engage in discussions with this oversight body, and bring to the Presbytery council the recommendation:

That ... is a suitable context for local ordained ministry.

The ministry committee will also bring to the Presbytery council for approval the employment conditions for the LOM position.

4. If the candidating and appointing processes come together well, and once a Training Agreement has been negotiated, the Presbytery may decide:

That ... (name of LOM) be appointed as a Local Ordained Ministry probationer to the ... (parish or other body)

That a commissioning be held on ... (date, time, venue)

That ... be appointed as the training enabler for the LOM probationer.

5. If a LOM probationer completes the requirements as agreed in the Training Agreement, the Presbytery shall review the appointment (this may include a congregational meeting to vote on the call), and may decide:

That a call be extended to ... for ordination as a Local Ordained Minister

That ... be ordained and inducted into ... congregation/ministry on ... (date, time, venue)

That the terms of call shall be ... (details of position, stipend etc)

That the MSB & Interim Moderator are thanked and discharged.
